KNELL OF GAS TAX RUNG AT CAPITOL

FRIENDS OF MEASURE LOSE HOPE FOR ITS APPROVAL

GOVERNOR'S STATEMENT FORECASTS HIS VETO

Many Appropriations May Share Same Fate to Coincide With Economy Program—A Few Words About Yellow Journalism.

Sacramento.—Governor Richardson, in a statement issued at the capitol Monday, gave further and what is regarded in some quarters as final indication that he will veto the Breed gas tax bill. At the same time he voiced a sentiment which is taken as meaning the death of the bill to increase the hunting and fishing license from $1 to $2. He said, "No new tax raising device will be signed unless an overwhelming demand is made for it by the people."

He has until midnight of May 29 to pass upon the remaining measures sent to him by the recent legislature.

The governor's Monday statement follows:

"Economy has been my watchword in considering bills and every appropriation has been weighed in the economy balance. Unnecessary appropriation bills will not be signed. I have closely scrutinized every bill intended to put an extra tax on the people, even though it affected counties and cities and not the state directly. No new tax raising device will be signed unless an overwhelming demand is made for it by the people. County salaries will not be approved except where the board of supervisors and the grand jury approve, thus putting the responsibility where it belongs.

"During the legislative session I can, under the constitutional provision, sign a bill or return it to the legislature with my veto. After adjournment I am denied the veto privilege which I esteem so highly, and must either sign a bill or let it slumber until May 29, when it expires without pain. I would prefer to give many of these bills a violent veto death, stating my reasons to the public, but if I announced before May 29 that I intended to decline to sign a bill I would only be inviting trouble, as the bill would continue to confront me until the last day. I had thought of publicly cremating certain bills of unworthy type traded through the legislature by unsavory political bosses, but the attorneys advise me that nothing would be accomplished by such action, as there are copies of every enrolled bill in the hands of the legislative secretaries and the cremation of one would not obliterate all. Nothing can be done, therefore, except to keep my name off them until May 29, after which the taxpayers may again breathe freely while the yellow journals and slimy politicians will have abundant cause for wailing and howling."

Governor Richardson also hit at the various appropriation bills before him, declaring that they had all "been weighed in the economy balance" and that no measure will be approved "unless the money is a vital necessity."

FOUR MONTHS' TEST DECIDES LIFE OF PROHIBITION LAW

Washington.—The Coolidge administration will be given four months in which to test its ability to enforce the prohibition law before the Couzens senatorial committee considers any new dry legislation. After a preliminary inquiry, the committee has decided to abandon all tentative prohibition hearing and to postpone further consideration of the subject until fall. This was done to give the government time to determine the effectiveness of the rum war.

In the fall—with the records of the government's dry crusade before it—the committee will meet again to draft further legislative remedies, if the rum war is successful or to consider modification of the Volstead act if the enforcement drive has failed. By abandoning the hearings the committee also postponed decisions on a number of legislative remedies proposed by government officials.

Evolution Trial July 10

Dayton, Tennessee.—Thirteen of Tennessee's Anglo-Saxon citizenry, in grand jury assembled, have voted to present a true bill against young John Thomas Scopes, Dayton high school teacher, who dared to implant in the minds of his pupils the idea that man's body is an animal body, related to the apes, that it will be evolved through millions of years and that the Bible story of creation is a myth. A special term of court was then set for the trial, which is to begin July 10 in Dayton.

GOVERNOR SIGNS COLONY AID BILL

DELHI GIVEN $250,000 APPROPRIATION FOR RELIEF

EXECUTIVE'S MESSAGE SCORES ELWOOD MEAD

Reclamation Commissioner Is Blamed for "Visionary Schemes and Impractical Ideas"—State Cannot Abandon Settlers.

Sacramento.—A scathing denunciation of United States Commissioner of Reclamation Elwood Mead, former state land settlement head, as the man directly responsible for the failure of the Delhi land colony in Merced county, was made by Governor Richardson in his statement issued in connection with his signature of assemby bill 1250, appropriating $250,000 for the relief of settlers of the Delhi colony. The bill was introduced by the special committee of the legislature which made an investigation of the colony and recommended the appropriation.

The governor charges Mead with the loss to the state of at least $1,000,000 in the project and the blasting of the hopes of the settlers, who, he charges, were placed there on misrepresentations. His statement is as follows: "The state has about $2,000,000 invested at Delhi in a land settlement project. The net value of the state's interests at Delhi at the present time is about $1,000,000. From this it is apparent that the state already has lost $1,000,000 in this project. If the state could get $1,000,000 out of this project and clean the slate of its obligations it would be advantageous.

"But, unfortunately, there is a human element involved and consequently the state cannot get out of Delhi. The settlers at Delhi are hard working, industrious, 100 per cent Americans. Conditions at the colony were misrepresented to them and their losses have been considerable. In order to keep the colony afloat and to do justice to these outraged settlers, it is necessary that the state at this time appropriate $250,000. This colony is a monument to the visionary schemes and impractical ideas of Elwood Mead. He is responsible above all others for the loss of at least a million dollars to the state, the failure of the colony and the impositions practiced upon the unfortunate settlers.

"The state of California must see this project through on account of its moral phase more than on account of its business phase. During the recent visit to California of the secretary of the interior he paid a visit to Delhi at my request. Elwood Mead, who was in his party, failed to show up at Delhi and face the indignant citizens, although he was traveling in the special train of the secretary of the interior, and the train stopped at Delhi."

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATOR ATTACKS RANCHMAN'S WILL

Hanford.—A new attack was made upon the will of Lee Camp by Public Administrator Ed T. Smith, who filed a petition for the revocation of letters testamentary granted to Mrs. Jennie Laura Brown in January, and for special letters of administration recently filed. The petition alleges that Mrs. Jennie Laura Brown, as executive of the will, has not filed an inventory or appraisement of the estate, has not caused the appointment of appraisers, has taken no steps to care for, protect or conserve the assets of the estate and that her interests are adverse to the interests of the estate and the heir-at-law.

The petition shows that Lee Camp, deceased, left an estate consisting of personal property of a value of $1,700 and real property valued at $80,000, the deeds purporting to convey the latter to Jennie Laura Brown having been recorded December 18, 1924.

Crime Costs 3½ Billions

Chicago.—Crime, which costs the people of the United States about $3,500,000,000 annually, about the cost of the whole federal government, is increasing rapidly despite contrary assertions of police officials, Burdette G. Lewis, state commissioner of Institutions and agencies of New Jersey, declared in addressing the International Association of Garment Manufacturers in convention.

Kidnaper's Bail $5,000

Bakersfield.—Bail of $5,000 was fixed in the case of R. I. Branch, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor and kidnaping, it being alleged that he was responsible for the disappearance of Mildred Bassett, 13-year-old Rosedale girl.

Golden State
News of Interest to All

May 20 was "tragedy day" at Los Angeles, ten fatal incidents being recorded of widely, different natures: Mrs. Jean Cahill, wife of an electrical engineer, attempted suicide. Chester M. Cate, head librarian of the nationally famous Huntington library at San Marino, was found dead, on a lonely road, a suicide. Edgar Collier died of heart failure, at the wheel of his automobile on a crowded street. Russell Smart, started to move his household goods early in the morning hours; a policeman shot him. U. S. Coville, 89, Alhambra, killed himself. W. J. Brown, Culver City, killed himself with gas. Edward Walker, hoisting a 100-pound block of ice into a refrigerator, was killed. Walter Cowles, veteran cowpuncher, slipped as he hoisted a 200-pound side and may die. Joe Bujan, motion picture director, injured by an automobile. A. A. Schaub, Santa Monica, died of a shotgun wound.

The value of saving minutes was fully demonstrated in the boring of the $17,000,000 tunnel at Florence lake. When the job was started in 1920, it was thought that July of 1926 would come before the finish was reached. In such work it had heretofore been necessary to wait from two to three hours after each blast for the pit to clear of poisonous gases before allowing the men to resume work. The powder companies, with a new blasting solution, cut this lost time to about one-half an hour. This saving of minutes aggregated twenty-two months before the end of the work was reached.

The Eighteenth amendment and measures to enforce the Volstead act were arraigned by Dr. Granville MacGowan of Los Angeles, president of the California Medical association, before the fifty-fourth annual convention of that body at Yosemite, who characterized prohibition enforcement as "a state of civil war throughout the land," and declared "the flood of alcoholic liquors into this country" was a menace with which the medical profession must cope.

Three years ago, according to the story told, M. T. Thompson of San Francisco lost confidence in his Shasta county mine and decided to give it up. The Mad Mule, he declared, was a failure, and invited prospectors to help themselves. A few of them took him at his word and succeeded in removing $40,000 worth of gold from the property before Thompson heard of it and returned to Whiskytown.

At the annual encampment of the California and Nevada Grand Army of the Republic, at Sacramento, an excessive downpour caused the cancellation of the annual parade, which was to have been the feature of the session. The rain also spoiled the plans for an open air campfire and the veterans gathered in the assembly chamber of the state capitol instead.

Revolutionary disturbances in Central America were brought to the attention of Senator Hiram Johnson when a detachment of Honduran soldiers boarded his yacht, Kemah, at Amapala one morning at daybreak, routed out the senator, his son, and members of the crew, and accused those on the craft of carrying arms and munitions for the revolutionists.

The Redwood memorial grove was dedicated, May 20, by members of the California Federation of Women's Clubs in convention at Santa Cruz. The federation has raised $50,000 to preserve the redwood trees.

An invitation to be the guest of San Francisco during the Diamond Jubilee celebration has been extended President Gerardo Machardo of Cuba by a delegation of Mission Council, Knights of Columbus.

A monument to Dr. Lafayette H. Bunnell, member of the first expedition against the Yosemite Indians, in 1851, was raised at Yosemite by the state medical association, May 19.

Northern California is excited over the striking of an 11-foot ledge of bituminous coking coal on a ranch, several miles north of Yreka, following months of development work. The coal was struck after drilling 121 feet through a sandstone formation and it was struck between the hanging wall and the foot wall.

Manila Voters Increase

Manila.—Approximately eight hundred and fifty thousand electors have qualified to vote in the Philippines general election June 2. This is an increase of about fifty thousand since the last general elections in 1922.

Plot to Kill Calles

Mexico City.—The chief of police and aldermen of the village of General Anaya were arrested following discovery of a plot to assassinate President Calles while en route to his summer home, Quintalazo.

FIRE SIREN TESTS MADE BY DEPARTMENT

Campbell, Calif.
May 26, 1925.

Campbell Press,
Campbell, Calif.

Dear Editor.

Many questions have been asked in regards the Fire Department's new siren and as all living within the Fire District are more or less interested I will give you the following information and our intended program that you may publish the same.

In the first place the siren is not in service and will not be until it, and all the electrical equipment necessary for the siren to function properly are thoroughly tested and adjusted. During these tests reports as to the distance and its audibility will be gladly received by the Department and the writer. Many persons are of the opinion that the siren heard about a week ago were our tests. However that was a demonstration of a small one suitable for installing on the trucks.

The siren will be operated from the little red station in front of the Fire House, for the present. Simply break the glass in its door and press button marked "Start" It would be well to familiarize yourself with this. Later, when arrangements are made, an operating button will be placed in the telephone office to take care of telephone calls.

Notice will be given when siren is in service and until that time the bell will serve as the fire alarm. We are contemplating to divide the town into four wards and having a different blast, if possible, for each ward. A monthly test will be had by having a different call for the meeting of the Fire Department.

We fully realize that its wail and shriek will not be pleasant to those within its range, but as these tests are necessary we ask all concerned to be as considerate as possible. Undoubtedly you will realize its sound after its being placed in service. The rush to a fire, and especially getting the equipment ready again after a fire is not pleasant to the Fire Department, which we are ready to do. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Any further information will be cheerfully given by,

Respectfully yours,
ED GENASCI,
Fire Chief.

WHO OWNS THE GAME?

Should the bill proposing to double the hunting and fishing license fees reach him let us hope Governor Richardson will have his veto pen in good working order. So far as appears, there is neither necessity for the measure nor justice in its purpose. It is unfair to th efellow who is forced to count his dollars, yet he is as much a sportsman and has as much love for the out doors as one to whom dollars mean less.

Two dollars fee for the right to enjoy a day's hunting—and the average man rarely can afford more than a day of the sport—and another $2 for the privilege to fish in the few streams remaining open to one who has no club affiliations or influential acquaintances. It is too much. And it should not be asked of the people.

It would mean prohibition of hunting and fishing to the larger number of the people of the state. The streams and forests would be made a preserve for a few.

It would be better if the fish and game commissioners were not self-sustaining, if for the commission were not self-sustaining, if for the commission to earn its way a prohibitive tax must be laid on the men an dwomen of California who love to answer the call of the wild—Los Angeles Express.

White-line lanes have been marked across the highway at both entrances to the school, to make it safe for children coming and going. Boy Scouts are on duty just after 12 and just before 1 o'clock, to direct traffic. Next week they will have Scout badges.

RETURN TO SWEDEN

Mr. and Mrs. John Brynteson and family enjoyed last week in the Yosemite. Altho they have seen many beautiful places in Sweden and this country, they were more than delighted with the beauty and grandeur of this world wonder spot.

The family will start next. Friday on their homeward journey, going via the Salt Lake route.

During their several months stay in California they have made a host of friends who wish them Godspeed on their trip and hope for a later return to this "valley of heart's delight.' The young folks are quite in love with California and are none too pleased to leave.

ELLISON-ULM

Friends of Miss Muriel Allison were surprised to learn of her marriage Saturday in San Jose, to Mr. Harold G. Ulm.

Miss Ellison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Ellison of the Mission Hatchery and has conducted a great deal of the business of that institution in recent years.

Mr. Ulm is owner of Castle Rock ranch, which lies just west of Castle Rock in the Santa Cruz mountains and here Mr. and Mrs. Ulm are now at home.

The bride is a real Campbell girl, a graduate of the school and has continued her residence here. The wide cirle of friends and acquaintances unite in wishing her and her husband the best success and a full measure of happiness.

Mr. D. L. Cramer, father of D. H. Cramer, who has spent several months here with his son and family, left Sunday morning for his home at Fostoria, Ohio. Later in the summer he plans on a visit to his boyhood home in Pennsylvania.

CRITICISM

There is hardly a man or woman in public life in Los Gatos who does not receive criticism. Sometimes this criticism is constructive, sometimes it is destructive. Our public officials from time to time and from year to year get it on every hand. Every president or chairman of a club or society, every officer and leader in church work, every man or woman engaged in administering the affairs of our schools, the local press—all of them—some time or other, get criticised.

Sometimes the criticism takes on the aspect of abuse or even of slander. More often it is merely cutting or sarcastic.

Why is this? The answer follows that it is because these officers and administrators are human, and because they live in a human world and a human community.

He who leads must expect the hardships of leadership. He who rules must expect occasional passive or open rebellion. He who initiates must expect reaction and opposition from those whose life's philosophy leads them into contrary channels of thought.

The situation in Campbell is perhaps no worse than that in any other community. Constructive criticism is needful to growth; but the greater need is that people be not unkind, but charitable, in dealing it out.

WHAT IS YOUR "GOOD WILL" WORTH?

Besides physical valuation running into many millions, the recent purchasers of "Dodge Brothers" paid $50,000,000 for the name alone, which, in the law books and in trade parlance is called the "good will of the business." "Two and a half decades ago," say press dispatches, "this name was worth only about $4.00 per day when signed to a machine shop payroll and accompanied by nine hours' work." Today it stands for gigantic transactions that make the "Morgans and Du Ponts sit up and take notice."

Every legitimate business, large or small, carries that indefinable but valuable, that unseen yet visual and perceptible asset known as good will. It is stock in trade for the merchant, and it is a client-producing asset for the professional man and the tradesman. After all, it is but the spiritual and the moral part of a business and of business relationship; and justly proud should be the person, firm or corporate utility that can create this almost incalculable valuation in terms of strength, reliability and fair dealing.

LOGIC AND LIVES

What are Californians going to say about California leading the U. S. last year in the number of auto deaths? The quick reply that it is because California has more registered autos will not do; nor will it do in any state. From the standpoint of humanity and human lives, nothing should be permitted to justify such a record. The more automobiles there are in a given place, the more stringent should be the regulations, and more careful and the more "educated" both drivers and pedestrians should be; and to carry the proposition to its logical conclusion—the less percentage of accidents should prevail. At least this is something to think about.

TURNING THE TABLES

College girls are reported to be now taking the college boys to the movies, to dinners, and otherwise paying expenses heretofore shared by the male of the species. Let it continue, at least until the girl begins to realize the value of a dollar. Perhaps then she will be at least appreciative, if not satisfied, with something less than a $2 box of candy every time the financially-embarrassed college youth calls to see her. Girls need to know that boys ought to have an opportunity to practise habits of thrift and economy as an important part of their early training.

RUPTURE
EXPERT HERE

F. H. Seeley, of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will personally be at the Montgomery Hotel, and will remain in San Jose this Monday only, June 1. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—exemplifying instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or Incissional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions. Warning—All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or web truss with understraps, as same rest where the lump is and not where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seeley has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. He will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section.

PITTHREE POWER HOUSE IS BEING RAPIDLY ERECTED.

Work in connection with the erection of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Pitthree Power House is progressing at a very rapid rate. Fifteen hundred men are at work on this development which will be completed and through which one hundred eight thousand horse power in electric energy will be available on or about July 1st. The big diversion dam five miles up the river from the Power House is about completed. This plant is the fourth of the series of seven to be constructed in the Pit River basin, located approximately sixty-eight miles northeast of Redding on the Redding-Alturas Highway.

Influenza Once Known as "Sleeping Malady"

One has heard of influenza again, but luckily not of those dangerous forms known a few years back. It was then thought a new and terrible disease was visiting mankind, but it was soon established that it was but a fresh outbreak of what has been known for centuries.

As early as 1580 an epidemic referred to as "sleeping malady" was known, which was no other than our influenza when it attacks the head. It was again observed in London in 1774-5. No less a person than Isaac Newton made its acquaintance, and the French name for it, "la grippe," first turned up then. Its meaning and derivation are just what one would suppose—the verb "gripper" means "to seize."

The name "influenza," known since 1733, means "influence," and the thought is of the influence of the stars on human destiny. This "influenza" is often referred to in the Eighteenth century, and South Russia and Astrachan were considered to be the source of the epidemic. It is interesting that at this time the philosopher Kant suggested that the sickness was produced by "baleful insects," which were introduced into western Europe by trade with Russia, and that his view found approval with the medical world of Vienna. — Manchester Guardian.

Glaciers of Colorado Are Slowly Vanishing

Colorado's glaciers are vanishing slowly, according to Prof. Junius Henderson, curator of the museum of the University of Colorado, says a dispatch from Boulder, Colo.

Disintegration of the ice sheets has resulted largely from the excessive hot weather and the dry seasons during the last few years. The great ice masses on the glacier peaks of the Rockies have been in slow retreat for the last 22 years, Professor Henderson declares.

"However, the retreat has been very rapid since 1919," he said, "for climatic conditions have been unfavorable to the accumulation or preservation of ice during that period. This is particularly noticeable in the Arapahoe glacier, the largest in Colorado."

Priest's Odd Powers

For his remarkable accomplishments with the divining rod the French government conferred the order of "Merite agricole" on Father Bouly who lives near Lille. Throughout the devastated regions of northern France he has been called on hundreds of times to locate the best place to dig a well, which he does with an umbrella stick. No beech or hazel twigs for him. The humble priest filled a great need in the community, for springs and wells were poisoned by the Germans during their occupation of the country and new water sources were urgent. Father Bouly is also credited with having found gold, bronze and copper buried deep beneath the soil.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Utilizing Him

"Well, I'll tell you, the editor of the Tumlinville Torch of Liberty and Tocsin of the Times is a feller that shore can't be bluffed!" stated Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, upon his return from the county seat.

"He can't, eh?" asked Mrs. Johnson.

"You bet, he can't! I was up in his office, sorter funterin' around, when a subscriber came boolgin' in, hollerin' that he had come to clean out the place. And, by glory, the editor slapped a gun to his head and made him do it!"—Kansas City Star.

Wakens to Music

To insure that he will awake in the best possible humor each morning, one Detroiter, says the News of that city, has invented a device both utilitarian and pleasurable. He hooks up his phonograph with his alarm clock, and at the required hour the clock releases a lever, which, in turn, starts the phonograph, and music pours forth into his sleeping room.

After twenty-three years behind the bars at Folsom on his third sentence, William Simpson, 90, a confederate veteran of the Civil war and the oldest convict in California will be cared for by the Confederate home in Pawnee valley, Kentucky, if a parole is granted him. In Placer county, during 1902, the old soldier was convicted of the robbery for which he is now confined.
